V. H. METCALF RETURNS FROM A TRIP TO WASHINGTON.

The Congressman Discusses Matters of Interest to People of This State.

Hon. Victor H. Metcalf, Congressman from the Third Congressional District, returned home this morning from a three weeks' absence in Washington and the East.

He reached his office about a quarter to 2 o'clock this afternoon, and on his way to it he met a hundred people at various places along the route who congratulated him again upon his election and expressed their gratification over his safe return from his trip in the distant East.

At his office Mr. Metcalf found a large number of clients and personal friends awaiting him, and before he bestowed much time to them he graciously accorded a few moments' interview to the representative of the Tribune.

VISITED WASHINGTON.

"My visit," he said, "to the East was conducted solely with a view to looking after my business affairs. At the same time, however, I was afforded in passing sufficient opportunity to see a great many things which related to personal enjoyment and relaxation of mind."

I visited Washington, New York city and Utica, my old home.

CLOSE OF THE SESSION.

"I found myself in Washington at the close of the session of Congress, and greatly enjoyed the scenes which, as is always the case, attend the adjournment of the National Legislature. I met an old classmate of mine in Fowler or New Jersey in the House and was by him introduced to a number of his associates, who will also be associates of mine when I shall return to the capital."

BEING INTRODUCED.

"There was another old-time friend of mine whom I met in Sherman from New York whose name has been mentioned with the speakership. He too introduced me to members of the House, all friends of his, some of whom had just entered upon their first term in Congress and some of them were veterans who had long served their constituents in such a manner as to be rewarded with succeeding themselves in a number of Congresses."

"Then, too, I met Senator Perkins and had the pleasure of being shown around the Capitol by him, of being introduced to members of the Senate and finally, of being introduced to President McKinley himself."

INTERVIEW WITH PRESIDENT.

"We had a very pleasant interview with the President, whom I found to be just about the kind of man in appearance as his pictures shows him to be. He is a moek, modest, quiet, thoughtful, pleasant and yet there is a dignity about him with which one cannot fail to be impressed."

The cares of state, the anxiety of a war both near at home and far away had perceptibly caused a pallor to settle over his complexion, but he was in better health apparently than I expected to find him. The duties of the Chief Executive are onerous enough in times of peace, but they are entirely out of proportion when compared with those which he has to perform in times of war. I left His Excellency with my personal regard for him increased to the utmost.

AS TO SENATOR PERKINS.

"In regard to Senator Perkins, I want to say, and to say it in the fullest meaning of the terms, that he is one of the most influential Senators in Washington. He is the worker among the Senators. He has three clerks at work all the time. He is at his office at 10 o'clock in the morning frequently, and there are frequent times when he remains there until midnight. There is honestly not a man in public life in Washington who does the work Senator Perkins does. This fact is in a feeble way shown in the reports published of him in the press and by the amount of work, legislative and otherwise, which he has accomplished."

He is thoroughly devoted to the interests of this city, nothing which has been accomplished for it in the way of material and other advantages having succeeded without his hearty, whole-souled co-operation.

"I am happy to say that so far as I could see business was prosperous, may flourish, in the East."

BUSINESS IN EAST.

"There is an activity there which does not appear to be great an extent here, for the reason, perhaps, that we have, comparatively speaking, so little manufactures here. In the thickly populated parts of the East manufacturing of course abounds and that impresses me in a most convincing manner, especially when those manufactures are full of operatives and in some cases going night and day, as they were when I was passing through."

"I heard of mills, factories and foundries there which were unable to receive any more orders for months ahead. I do not know of causes here where work which the government had ordered done by private concerns had to be sent to be done by government contractors, because the time could not be spared in the exigency of the demand to allow of the work being done by private concerns."

THE FARMERS.

"Speaking of the agricultural and horticultural prospects of the East, I am led to believe, not because of what I have seen, but because of what I have been told by many people who knew wherof they spoke, that they have not of the brightest. This has

DETAILS OF THE BATTLE AT ILOILO.

Our Boys Kill Fifty of the Rebels.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

MANILA, March 23.—5:10 P. M.—Details of the fighting at Iloilo on March 18th show that 400 rebel riflemen from Panay were met by seven companies of the Eighteenth Regiment, United States Infantry and a battalion of the Tennessee Volunteers. As supports, these troops had three two-inch Hotchkiss guns under General Miller, north of Jaro, across the river.

The Americans were met with a heavy fire. One American was killed and fifteen were wounded of the Eighteenth and there were several cases of sunstroke.

General Miller estimates that fifty rebels were killed and 100 wounded.

ADDITIONAL CASUALTIES.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—General Ots today reported to the War Department the following casualties:

"March 16, near San Pedro Macati, wounded, First Idaho, Company H, C. A. Benedict, foreman; March 21, near Mariguana, wounded, First Colorado, Company E, Artillery; Archie A. Aldrich, armpit, moderate; March 15, at Jaro, Panay, killed, Eighteenth Infantry, B, Private Louis Bleht, wounded, Eighteenth Infantry, B, Joseph G. Day, thigh; Theodore Eun, chest; Preston Savage, forearm; William Brunscombe, chest; Company L, Max Horne, forearm; C. John McCreary, hand; William Lehman, thigh; John E. Rogers, thigh; William Bixman, leg; Company H, Riley Callaghan, scalp; William R. Rhodenburger, hand; Company K, William Marwood, leg; Company E, William Buster, foot; First California, Company L, Private T. A. Mann, lower shoulder."

"I shall watch the progress of the move toward the erection of the building. If it shall be made manifest that the appropriation is not sufficient to purchase a proper site and erect thereon a building worthy of this city—a building for the future and not the next five years, I shall be in favor of making a move for an increase in the sum. We want a big building, an ornate building, a building that will be architecturally pure and classical, in keeping with the character of this city as the Athens of the Pacific."

"I hope there will be an additional appropriation as possible as to the best place in which to put the building up.

Of course I should prefer that the building should go up in the place where it would be the most appropriate and serviceable, not for the immediate moment but especially for the future."

THE HARBOR.

"The figures which Congress has appropriated in the matter of the completion of the harbor are known to everybody. I will say that every effort ought to be made to complete the tidal canal. To my mind it is one of the greatest improvements. As soon as that work is done it will lead to the building of great factories on this side of the bay."

Mr. Metcalf said that there was a division of sentiment in the East as regards retaining the Philippines, that McKinley would be renominated by the Republicans, that the Democratic slogan in 1900 would be anti-expansion and anti-imperialism. He declared he had no patronage save simply to recommend fourth-rate postmasters.

GIVE SHELTER TO CRIMINALS.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—The autho- rities here are looking forward hopefully to the meeting of the Mexican Congress next month, when the new extradition treaty, already ratified by the United States Senate, will be ratified by the Mexican Senate.

Until then a peculiar condition of affairs exists, as the old extradition treaty has expired, and the new one has not gone into operation. This interim makes Mexico an asylum for criminals from this side and the United States an asylum for violators of the law from Mexico.

It is said, however, that the terms of the new treaty will not give permanent immunity to offenders. Although the treaty shall be retroactive, covering crimes committed during the present interim.

This provision, it is said, will terminate any brief asylum offenders may enjoy up-to the time the Mexican Senate ratifies

the treaty.

WAS PARALYZED BY A SLIGHT FALL.

Valentine Verl met with a peculiar accident yesterday afternoon. He was playing with his little boy on the porch of his home, 757 Oak street, when he lost his balance and fell to the ground, a distance from where he sat. He attempted to arise. He found that the old man moved either of his limbs on the right side. He was removed to the Receiving Hospital where he was treated by Drs. Stratford

Porter and Rowe.

It was found that Verl's right side was paralyzed. The case is a peculiar one,

on account of the rarity of its occurrence

from such a cause.

Owner Wanted.

An owner is wanted at police headquarters for a bundle of clean clothes which were found Saturday evening.

The bundle evidently dropped from a Chinese laundry wagon.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

UNIONTON, Pa., Mar. 23.—Mrs. Frank Wilson of Oliver used kerosene in kindling a fire today, and as a result she and her two little children are fatally burned. When she poured the oil in the stove she was holding a babe in her arms and another child was standing by. Suddenly there was an explosion and the flames shot out and enveloped them all. Their clothing was burned off and their bodies were horribly charred.

Finding that he was banished from his home, Price finally brought suit for a legal separation.

There was some dispute as to the division of the property when the decreece was granted. Price admitted that the home in North Oakland was in his wife's name, but said he had given her the money for its purchase before they were married.

Mr. Price testified that the property belonged wholly to her. She also admitted that she managed the affairs of the household and that Price played second fiddle.

The court awarded the home, which consists of a dairy and chicken ranch in North Oakland, to the wife. The personal effects were declared to be community property.

A. L. Frisch represented the plaintiff and C. L. Colvin the defendant.

CHARTER DAY AT THE UNIVERSITY.

Interesting Exercises Addresses Made by Held in Harmon Gymnasium.

High thinking and fine speaking to the accompaniment of fine orchestral music as well as a glorious pervasive atmosphere of sloppiness characterized the State University's observance of Charter Day this year. The gymnasium, whose seating capacity had been closely matched by tickets of invitation, many of them sent across the bay, was not entirely filled, although the galleries contained many ladies.

The large platform was quite filled with members of the University faculty and of the Board of Regents and with invited guests of honor. The expected State officials were not present. This was Dr. George C. Purdey's first public appearance in his new capacity of Regent of the University. Mrs. McVicker, Regent of the University of Utah, was also present. President Martin Kellogg, in his University gown and mortarboard cap, presided. The students who profited in largest numbers by the rains to hear against the distinguished scholar who made so pleasant an impression upon them yesterday, formed an enthusiastic element in the audience.

HAROLD SYMMES.

The first speaker was Harold Symmes of the class of '99. Mr. Symmes treated his subject, "Personal Influence in Higher Education," at first from the historical point of view. He showed how in all ages it was not merely the place, the school, the library even, which the student sought, but rather the personal influence of certain men inspiring man-to-man contact with great thinkers. The returned scholar boasted not that he had studied in Athens, in Paris, in Berlin, in Oxford, but that he had been forced to face with such men as Flaubert, Alcibiades, Strasbourg. In every review of thought, whether of the nineteenth, the thirteenth, the sixteenth or the nineteenth century, it has been this personal influence between teachers and students that has produced the fruits of learning. The speaker instance men throughout the world who have thus inspired those they taught, for California instances John and Joseph Le Conte. A tribute was paid to President Kellogg, who is soon to retire, and to whom is due for forty years of devoted service and wise guidance the heartfelt gratitude of California.

REGENT PHELPS.

Regent Timothy Guy Phelps followed with an eloquent memorial tribute to the late Senator Justin S. Morrill, whom he compared to Lincoln, Grant, Trumbull, Fessenden, for simple, plain, approachable manners and a distrustfulness not of others, but of himself. He was a man to grapple with the problems. By virtue of his capacity and of his position as chairman of the House Committee of Ways and Means he was assigned the duty of solving the tariff problem. That duty evolved the moral tariff bill, which was so perfect that it passed the House and Senate with little amendment. In February, 1882, Senator Wade of Ohio introduced a bill granting lands to States establishing agricultural colleges, allowing 30,000 acres to each representative in Congress. This State received 150,000 acres, from the sale of which a large part of the permanent endowment of this University is derived."

Mr. Phelps congratulated the regents of California upon the fact that through their management all of its lands realized $5 per acre, whereas other States had realized only $1.50.

Mr. Morrill devised the Morrill Act and other acts, through which the University is receiving $70,000 annually. He was broad enough to know that the State's prosperity does not depend on any one species of scholars, but that it needs great engineers and great mechanics and education along all lines. No other statesman, said Regent Phelps, has done so much for the industries of the people as Justin H. Morrill. He spoke of the establishment of the College of Agriculture in pursuance of the Act of 1872 and the subsequent material and industrial development of the State. His reference to our battleships, that have become the bulkwork of the nation, elicited applause. So also did his reference, as among the things to be done for the preservation of the forests and the conservation of the waters of the Sierra, so that they may move the wheels of industry in every town and again in his reference to our lately greatly enlarged commercial prospects in the Orient.

PRESIDENT HARPER.

Dr. William Balney Harper was greeted by the students with the heartiest applause. He considered it an honor to be the guest of a University that is one of the great educational institutions of the land, measured by all the standards which he recited in detail.

"The University is the guide of civilization in its tortuous onward progress. Democracy is the highest idea of human achievement. They must work and advance, hand in hand. President Harper defined with precision and conciseness the functions and relations of the University to the life and welfare of the people. He insisted upon the necessity for them of absolute freedom from interference, whether State or nation. The University may not stand aloof from the people, but its bond is a spiritual one. Any effort to isolate a professor by a majority popular vote, if successful, would destroy the character of a University. Yet, while the University is entitled to this absolute self-control, it is an institution of the people and for the people. The President then went into a deep and broad glowing discussion of democracy. Democracy means the supremacy of the people—co-operative government. It implies equality with responsibility in the public will, but the people, for successful democracy must be an educated people. Education must be the end of a democracy. It shall administer itself by accepting the guidance of those prepared to lead. Democracy has nothing to do with religion, yet everything, because it provides for religious liberty. Enlightenment of the mind and soul, the truth not of any one form of religion, but of an exalted system of religious liberty, is the only safeguard, and that is the great gift which a democracy receives from a University.

"This ended the exercises."

YOUNGER BOYS MAY BE PAROLED

A Bill Passed That May Give Them Their Freedom.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

ST. PAUL, March 23.—The prospects of the younger boys being released from State prison are much brighter today. The bill which permits the parole of life prisoners after twenty years' imprisonment with uninterrupted good behavior was yesterday defeated in the Senate, but today Senator Wilson had the bill reconsidered, and after an amendment was adopted requiring the approval of the Board of Pardons of such paroles, by the Board of Prison Managers, the bill was passed by a vote of 45 to 5.

The Board of Pardons has heretofore strongly opposed pardon for the younger boys, but their friends hope for a more favorable disposition towards a proposal to parole the prisoners.

HUGE MARBLE BLOCK

ATLANTA, Ga., March 23.—Professor Yates of the Geological Survey has been advised that a marble block weighing over 100,000 pounds has been successfully removed from a quarry at Marbles Hill, Ga., and started on its way to New York. The marble is almost pure white and measures twenty-seven feet two inches long by four feet three inches wide, and is believed to be the largest block quarried in modern times.

Grewsome Quest in the Windsor Ruins Goes On.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, March 23.—One hundred and fifty mesh worked all night on the ruins of the Windsor Hotel fire, but nothing was accomplished so far as the finding of bodies was concerned. There was some trouble encountered on the Forty-seventh street side of the ruins. The workers there got to the cellar, and found water filled the cellar and was rising as the men cleared away the debris. The digging had to be stopped, and engines were brought up to pump out the water.

Articles of many different kinds continued to be unearthed. Of these some were bank-books, apparently of domestic use in the employ of the house. One was in the name of Margarette Quinn and one in the name of Kate Dunn.

A marked package of letters and books bore the name of Colonel W. C. Brown and the address 39 Broad street. A letter contained the card of Dr. H. R. Purdy, 149 Lexington avenue. A spoon was marked "J. E. F."

An album, with pictures, contained a memorandum with the names of M. J. Cramer and Miss Kate Walsh. A bundle of letters showed the address of George Beckham, Spring Lake, N. Y. Among other things found were a lady's pocket book containing a cartridge pencil, a spoon marked "N. C. T. W." a metal box with the cover marked "I. D. L." and a metal box 12x6 inches, containing jeweled trinkets.

HOUNDED BY DETECTIVES.

Grievance of a Woman Claimant to John Stetson's Estate.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 23.—Interest in the claim to the $2,000,000 estate of the late John Stetson of Boston, which is soon to be contested by Mrs. Katherine Shirley of this city, has been revived by the appearance here of a Boston lawyer and a woman detective, who, Mrs. Shirley, assert, are working in the interest of the Stetson relatives.

Mrs. Shirley claims to be the daughter of Kate Stokes, a former circus rider and actress, who married John Stetson. Both Stetson and his wife died in Boston with no living wife. According to Mrs. Shirley, the Stetson relatives are trying to show that Mrs. Shirley is not just, but that the former wife of L. H. Hitchcock, formerly of Toronto and of Boston and of Chicago, and later City Assessor of Kansas City.

The woman detective, Mrs. Shirley claims, has become very obnoxious of late by following her from place to place. Several hotel scenes have resulted, the climax finally coming when Mrs. Shirley brought weight to bear to have the detective ousted from the hotel, which was done. ## EXPENSES OF SOME CANDIDATES.

R. W. Snow, W. A. Dow and Z. T. Gilpin have filed expense accounts for the municipal campaign.

Mr. Snow's statement shows the following items of expense: Advertising in newspapers, $3; subscription to Republican City Central Committee, $100; subscription to Municipal League, $30; cards, etc., $34, the whole amounting to $300.

W. A. Dow expended $240.45 as follows: Republican City Central Committee, $100; Municipal League each received $100 and the remainder for cards and advertising.

The expenses of Z. T. Gilpin were $26,75. The Republican City Central Committee and Municipal League each received $100 and the remainder was expended for printing and advertising.

Louis Schaffer's expenses for the recent campaign were according to his filed statement, $8,25.

This completed the argument. The arguments on the other side will be presented Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

FRATERNITY AND BROTHERHOOD.

Work in the Local Prosperous Times
Lodges in This City.

Charity. Fellowship. Good Will.

Some of the most interesting events in the fraternal world of the past week will be found recorded below:

The Grand Parlor of Native Sons is to be held in Salinas in the last week of April of this year. The local parlors are getting ready for the event, either by the nomination of or the election of delegates to the gathering.

Last night Oakland parlor placed its delegates in nomination and on next Wednesday night will elect the candidates whom it prefers.

Piedmont Parlor will nominate its delegates next Friday evening and will elect them on the following Friday.

Athens Parlor is already in the field with its delegates, namely, Ben Woerner and W. E. Dean.

Brooklyn Parlor is also to the front, its delegates being Dr. J. M. Kane and H. F. Hauser.

Alameda Parlor has selected as delegates L. L. Schuler and Max Glas.

It is the belief of a large number of the members of the order in this vicinity that the next grand president of the order will be Frank Mattison of Santa Cruz, who is now grand first vice-president.

The hottest fight now anticipated in the Grand Parlor will be between Louis Byington, the Supervisor of San Francisco, and the Hawkwood of the same place, both of whom aspire to the position of third vice-president.

Alameda county will be represented among the aspirants to office.

Frank Barnet of Piedmont Parlor in this city and Max Glas of Alameda Parlor are candidates for trustees. Mr. Barnet says that he is not seeking the office with any greedy desire, neither would he expect to have the place tendered him on a silver platter. A number of friends, however, have suggested to him that he ought to aspire to the position of trustee and there is no doubt that he will have a number of brother natives to aid him in his candidacy.

Arthur Felder, present County Treasurer, a member of Las Positas Parlor of Livermore, is now outside sentinel, and it is expected that his aspirations of going a step higher may be encouraged.

GOLDEN CARNIVAL.

The Golden Jubilee of California, which is to be celebrated in San Francisco next year under the auspices of the Native Sons of the Golden West, will be on a scale of richness and novelty which has never been equaled in this State. The subject matter has been before all the Parlors of the order for more than a year and a number of those organizations have very decided ideas as regards of taking part in the display in a manner creditable to themselves and to the occasion which they propose to honor. Money will be a great factor in the undertaking, and the Parlors which have taken action in the premises have decided upon ways of raising the necessary funds without having recourse to their respective treasures. Some of the organizations will give picnics, some balls, some literary entertainments, some will produce plays, but the most novel method thus far heard of is that of Oakland Parlor No. 50, Piedmont Parlor No. 87 and Piedmont Parlor of Native Daughters. This entertainment will be given a Golden Carnival. It will be held in the Exposition building, beginning May 6th, continuing until May 13th. There will be entertainments of various kinds, fancy goods on sale and display, athletic events and a host of other things too numerous to mention. The Parlors mentioned are numerous, resolute and enthusiastic. They will act independently of Athens Parlor and Brooklyn Parlor. The proceeds will be divided equally between them. The result is in the hands of the expert committee, as will appear from the following:

C. E. Snook, J. J. Naegle, H. N. Gandy, J. P. Cook, T. Cal Dwing, H. D. Cushing and J. P. Dunn, M. D., from Oakland Parlor; and Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. T. Erick, Mrs. A. Bennett Nash, M. D., Mrs. A. Macdonald and Miss G. Surryne from Piedmont Parlor; N. D. G. W. The officers are elected as follows: Chairman, H. D. Cushing; vice-chairman, Mrs. J. Brown; secretary, Miss G. Surryne; treasurer, J. P. Cook.

Odd Fellows

This evening in Odd Fellows' Hall there will be a meeting of five delegates from each of the lodges of the I. O. O. F. order in this city for the purpose of organizing, with a view of trying to secure for this county the Home for Aged Odd Fellows. In the event of its being removed from Theriot Hall, the temporary organization will be effected. Then the lodges in the existing districts will be called on to send delegates. After both city and county delegates shall have come together a new organization will be formed and then it will be decided what Alameda county may have to offer as inducement to re-locate the home within its boundaries.

ODD FELLOWS' JUBILEE.

This year, on the 13th of October, will witness the fiftieth anniversary of the institution of Odd Fellowship in this State. It is a long period and during it this well-known order has experienced a great many reverses. It survived all of them however, and now looks forward to a brilliant commemoration, after half a century of the deeds of those who introduced it into this State, who struggled that it might live for the sake of doing good and who, in passing away, have left behind names which have survived their day and generation.

It would be impossible, of course, for all the members of the great order to assemble in one place on the day of celebration, and for that reason, latitude has been allowed lodges in various parts of the State to celebrate where and when may most suit their feelings and purses. Of course the greater number of lodges in this vicinity and the metropolis will celebrate in San Francisco, and, by way of preparation for that event, committees are now holding periodical sessions.

Of the lodges tributary to this town and San Francisco, which have been called upon for subscriptions, none have promised less than $100 and a number of them have guaranteed to pay $50. The jubilee, it is predicted, will be the greatest undertaking which has ever been gotten up under Odd Fellow auspices on the Pacific coast.

The pioneer lodge, California No. 1 of this city, was instituted September 9, 1849, just one year before California became a State. It began with fifteen members and now has 177. The membership in California has grown from the original fifteen to 30,500. Of the charter members of the pioneer lodge all are dead, the last of the old guard, Thomas Stasley, being laid to rest only a few days ago.

BERKELEY LODGE.

Saturday evening about fifty members of Berkeley Lodge, No. 27, I. O. O. F., responded to an urgent invitation that has been extended by the Excelsior degree team of San Francisco. The pleasant hours were spent at Odd Fellows' Hall. Seven relay teams conferred the first degree upon twenty-three candidates. Speeches and a banquet concluded the evening.

The visiting Lodge was highly complimented for the able manner in which it conducted the ceremony. It is very probable it will be called upon to exemplify the work before the Grand Lodge, which will convene in San Francisco in May.

NILES LODGE.

The members of Niles Lodge No. 352, I. O. O. F., gave an entertainment last Friday evening to their invited friends. Beside music and other attractions, a comedietta, "To Oblige Benson," was given, with the following cast:

"Attorney Benson," Dr. Chalmers; "Mrs. Benson," Mrs. Geo. A. Edgar; "Mr. Southdown," G. A. Edgar; "Mrs. Southdown," Miss Edna Hammer; "Meredith," (Benson's clerk), J. E. Jacobus.

United Workmen

The Grand Lodge, Ancient Order United Workmen, will assemble in San Francisco on the first Tuesday in April.

To this assemblage local lodges will soon begin to elect their representatives.

Fortuna Lodge of Berkeley has already elected its representatives, viz., Percy S. King, J. C. Knox, and L. J. Hayman.

Woodmen of the World

The new officers of the Woodmen of the World, just elected at the Sovereign Camp in Memphis, Tenn., to serve for two years, are as follows:

Simral Jr., Vicksburg, Miss.; sovereign watchman, E. Wood, Jewell, Manchester, Ia.; sovereign sentry, D. E. Bradshaw, Little Rock; sovereign managers, C. C. Farmer, Mount Carroll, Ill.; Philo Trueblood, Port Huron, Mich.; A. C. Fine, Norfolk, Va.; Governor, B. R. Sherman, Vinton, Ia., and C. J. Erving, Chippewa Falls, Wis.

HAYWARDS' WOODMEN.

The Woodmen of Haywards will have an increase meeting on Thursday evening, March 30th, when General Organizer Temple will be present and deliver an address. There will be an interesting program besides. This meeting will be for Woodmen and their gentlemen friends. Mr. Temple will remain three days together and it is the opinion of the executive committee, as will appear from the following:

C. E. Snook, J. J. Naegle, H. N. Gandy, J. P. Cook, T. Cal Dwing, H. D. Cushing and J. P. Dunn, M. D., from Oakland Parlor; and Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. T. Erick, Mrs. A. Bennett Nash, M. D., Mrs. A. Macdonald and Miss G. Surryne from Piedmont Parlor; N. D. G. W. The officers are elected as follows:

THURSDAY.....MARCH 23, 1899.

Chicago is said to possess a band of burglars who ride in carriages and wear dress suits. Reference is probably made to the Aldermen and their raids upon the civic treasury.

Instead of dying by inches, a new life is being put into the State in that way. The farmers can indeed look up at the clouds and gieefully say, "Oh, what a falling off was there, my countrymen."

The exposition fever has seized the country. Taking a tip, doubtless, from San Francisco's proposed mammoth show, St. Louis announces a great world's fair for 1903. That is all right; we can send the exhibits along from the Pacific coast after we get through with them.

The San Luis Obispo farmers will probably now withdraw the petition they presented for State aid, for the break-up of the drouth relieves them of the ills they complained of. They certainly cannot afford to have their section of the State go on record as not being self-supporting.

A DUTY AWAITS US.

There is but one cause for regret as regards the present rainfall, and that is that so much of the water is going to waste. The swollen streams that are coursing down to the sea, the pools that are forming in the marshes and lowlands, and the over-filled ditches and rivulets all tell a tale that should chide every Californian who is conversant with the situation here.

It is all very well when a dry spell comes along to take our prayer books in hand and go to the churches and pray for rain, but in sooth, when we pause and think, it is presumption to make such appeals, for we ourselves are to blame for the water famine from which we would be relieved. Providence has furnished the State with every possible means of warding off the ill consequences of a drouth. Our fertile valleys and table lands are literally flanked with watersheds, for the western counties, while the eastern side of the State has the massive peaks of the Sierra Nevadas offering countless opportunities for the storage of water.

As a matter of fact, the principal trouble is that nature has been too benevolent with us, and we are somewhat tinged with the spirit of the South Sea islander, who will not work because the wild fruits and game furnish him with enough to satisfy his immediate necessities. If we were situated in a region where we had to bring water hundreds of miles in irrigation ditches, as they do in Egypt and India, we would, of course, set to work and build all the necessary reservoirs and accommodations for the conservation of the rainfalls. As, however, we have everything right at hand, we have become careless, and the result is that although the State has had many a bitter experience with drouths, as soon as the rains come again we forget all the plans and good resolutions formed while we were in trouble and jog along satisfied with today and unheeded of the morrow, until the hour comes when our distress recurs once more.

We should put an end, though, to this happy-go-lucky sort of existence. Last year was a bitter one for the farmers of the State, and on every side could be heard good resolutions and plans as to water storage so as to prevent any similar disastrous experiences in the future. Then came the early rains and all the projects were abandoned, to be revived again, though, a month ago, when every indication pointed to another dry year. We should not let the agitation die out once more simply because of the bounteous rains we are now experiencing. The movement for the storage of mountain waters should be pressed in every way possible; large reservoirs should be constructed at such places where their waters can best be obtained for the thirsty plains when needed; in short, we should never rest until it is with the consciousness that our crops are no longer at the mercy of the elements of one particular season. The duty is one that we owe to ourselves and to posterity, and we should not shirk it.

The Santa Barbarans are trying to find out who it is that circulated the report that they had a few cases of smallpox in town. They are looking with suspicion upon the residents of Santa Monica, their rival Southern California watering place, for they think it might have come from there as an offset to the scare that has been created about Los Angeles.

CHARTER DAY:

Charter Day is being celebrated at the State University under conditions that, though adverse climatically, are as joyous as any in the history of the institution. It is customary at these annual gatherings to review the progress that has been made during the preceding twelve months, and it is from this standpoint that the occasion today becomes singularly interesting.

When the thirtieth anniversary was observed last year everything then was in as excellent a condition as could be expected, but since that time history has been made fast for the institution, and if all the promises of the past twelve months are fulfilled the year will have been one of the most important in its annals. The developments alluded to are those resulting from the munificence of Mrs. Hearst and Miss Flood, for the active interest they have taken in the affairs of the University means the birth of opportunities undreamed of until they made their plans known.

The fulfillment of the projects now in progress means that within a comparatively few years California's University will be on a par with any in the country. The magnificent buildings to be constructed upon what all the visiting architects admit is the most magnificent site for a college in the world will be capable of accommodating thousands of students, and in view of the new life that has been given to the West by our territorial acquisitions in the Pacific, an ever-increasing patronage is assured for our educational institutions. The liberality with which the people of the State, through their legislative representatives, extend all necessary aid to the University, added to endowments and gifts from other sources, make it certain that its faculty will be maintained on the high standard that was set when it was founded, so the future is bright for the institution that has already been an alma mater to so many who are distinguishing themselves in life's battles.

When Stanford University threw open its doors it was thought that the competition thus engendered would have a harmful effect upon the State institution by reason of decentering the attendance and thus affecting the maintenance of a complete corps of instructors, for it was but reasonable to suppose that there would be objections to keeping as expensive a faculty as ever, if the patronage were materially diminished. It was soon proved, however, that there was no occasion for alarm, for the competition was a healthy one in that it awakened the State to the advantages of a higher education, the result being that not only did Stanford obtain a liberal patronage, but that the attendance at Berkeley also steadily increased until now it is by far the highest in the history of the institution.

There can be no questioning the future of the State University, therefore, and the exercises that are being held today are given with the knowledge that each succeeding Charter Day will find the institution still further advanced up the stepping-stones of progress. The State can well be proud of the college resting in the Berkeley hills, for there it is that each generation of its budding manhood and womanhood is girt with sword and shield for the battle of life. It has already sent forth to the world many whose deeds are being heralded on the trumpets of fame, and its students are doing their full share towards the uplifting of mankind to a higher civilization.

It is suggested that as a nucleus for an American colony in the Philippines all volunteers who desire to stay there should be permitted to withdraw from the service when their regiments are ordered home and that they be paid a fixed sum as transportation allowance. Of course the men themselves ought to be the best judges of the situation, but to an outsider it looks as if the limited amount of capital they would be able to obtain by the plan proposed would not be sufficient to insure their being able to make the colony a success. Such a system would probably result in a number of men drawing transportation allowances and then after a couple of months they would be on their beams ends and the Government would have to carry them home, anyhow.

The agricultural department of the State University is rapidly becoming one of the most important in the institution. Through it a system of practical education is being imparted where it can do the most good, that is, to the farmer themselves. The institutes conducted by Professors Fowler and Jaffa are in great demand throughout the State, and the combination of theory, research, experiment and actual practice is proving of untold value to the tillers of the soil. The fight against the various crop pests is, for example, resulting in marked success.

The Santa Barbarans are trying to find out who it is that circulated the report that they had a few cases of smallpox in town. They are looking with suspicion upon the residents of Santa Monica, their rival Southern California watering place, for they think it might have come from there as an offset to the scare that has been created about Los Angeles.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, March 23.—A dispatch from the Tribune from Washington says:

"Hawaii is to have a naval militia organization similar to the auxiliary forces possessed by many of the States, which were so valuable in the recent Spanish war. Secretary Long received a letter on the subject today from B. Castle, who was the Hawaiian Minister of Legation at Washington before his appointment. He was accomplished, asking for all the necessary regulations regarding the militia, in order that steps could be taken at once at Honolulu to perfect an organization."

The thinking man is confronted as never before with problems on all these lines. Doubt fills the air. There is the widest divergence of thought because of the failure to exercise charity on the part of each thinker toward the other.

A great responsibility rests upon the churches. We are living in the last years of the first century of democracy. Democracy is growing. The churches have not adapted themselves to the great factor, democracy, and the masses are outside, but Christianity is democratic.

The speaker wished that he could say that it was questions about religious life that were occupying thinkers. That these were the men whose hearts were filled with the spirit of Jesus Christ and real concern for the uplifting of men at home and abroad. These, unfortunately, are the small remnant.

It is social problems, strictly so-called, that are occupying thinkers. They are occupying the daily papers, which only glance at the other topics because the minds of men are mainly fixed on them.

The thinking man is confronted as never before with problems on all these lines. Doubt fills the air. There is the widest divergence of thought because of the failure to exercise charity on the part of each thinker toward the other.

A great responsibility rests upon the churches. We are living in the last years of the first century of democracy. Democracy is growing. The churches have not adapted themselves to the great factor, democracy, and the masses are outside, but Christianity is democratic.

The speaker thanked God for the Catholic Church. God only knows, he said, where we would be but for the hold which that church retains upon the masses, for which the Protestant educational work of denominations and churches, like the University of California, they were broadening from the old, prescribed studies and introducing the elective plan. They were throwing down fences and sometimes getting over them. There is now more inter-denominational comity. Even in one denomination one church is institutional, another intensely missionary, another what we understand as a State church. Yet, as in our educational institutions, some prescription must abide.

PRESIDENT KELLOGG.

President Martin Kellogg, after referring to Dr. Harper's advent before the students of the University of California in the afternoon, spoke of the educational work of denominations and churches. Like the University of California, they were broadening from the old, prescribed studies and introducing the elective plan. They were throwing down fences and sometimes getting over them. There is now more interdenominational comity. Even in one denomination one church is institutional, another intensely missionary,

another what we understand as a

State church. Yet, as in our educational institutions, some prescription must abide.

President Kellogg went into a consideration of how the churches shall get back the masses and meet the vast issues involved between labor and capital. It can only be done, he concluded, by going back to some of the old studies, concerning the God who made us and the God who addressed us.

Man's responsibility to God underlies all social problems, which are the ones that are engaging the masses of men. John Robinson, the father of Congregationalism, looked for more light to come out of the Bible. We must go back to its basic principles to do our great and solemn work.

DR. BRONSON.

Rev. T. G. Bronson, President of California College, Oakland's Baptist

institution, being introduced, announced that President Harper will address the students and friends of that institution on Sunday at 3 p. m., which is just before he takes the train for the East to teach Chicago in time for the Convocation.

It may be stated here that President

Stevens at the close of the evening announced that Dr. Harper would speak on Sunday morning in the

First Baptist church of Oakland, its pastor, Rev. Dr. Hobart, having been lucky enough to be the first to invite him.

Dr. Bronson spoke of the higher education which now is taking its place in the rotation in which great problems engage the minds of men. He paid a glowing tribute to the young

University of Chicago and to its president, whose pupil he had been.

He named such eminent graduates of the older Baptist Chicago institution as Henry C. Maybee, Alexander Blackburn and C. R. Henderson. He playfully described his own imperfect studies in Hebrew, crediting them with

In reply the Parliamentary Secretary of Foreign Affairs, Hon. The government, Mr. Broderick continued, had no news of a collision.

He Brought Back the Cat.
One of the wealthy women of the South Side teaches a Sunday school composed of street urchins. She lost an Angora kitten last week, and on Sunday told her class that she would give a reward to any boy who could find it. The next day a small red-headed boy rang the front door bell and was ushered into the presence of the Sunday school teacher. The boy carried a dirty bundle done up in a piece of burlap.

"Hereth thou thitten," he said, holding out the parcel.

The woman did not understand the tongue-tied remark, and drew back from the untidy bundle.

"My child, I don't know what you are talking about," she said in a tone of offended dignity.

"Hereth thou tam old tat," he said; "the thrashed me, and I want the money."

World's Largest Coal Field.

The largest coal field in the world is in the Chinese province of Hunan. Baron von Richthofen, who investigated the mineral wealth of China, reported that the whole of the southeastern part of the province of Hunan may be called one great coal field, covering in all some 21,700 square miles. Over large areas of this the coal measures are visible on the surface, and a good proportion of the coal is of excellent quality. Hunan also produces iron, copper, silver, quicksilver, tin, lead, and gold. As to the latter mineral there are sixty-four localities where gold is to be found, and in some of the mines are indisputably rich. The same minerals are found in Shensi, which, in proportion to its area, has probably the largest and most easily workable coal field of any region in the globe. At the present rate of consumption the world could be supplied with coal from Shensi for ten thousand years.—London Times.

Horticulture vs. Theology.

Small Johnny had on his best clothes and his mammy told him not to play in the dirt with them on.

"Don't they have any dirt in heaven to play in?" he asked.

"No, of course not," replied his mother.

"Then what do little boys do up there?" queried Johnny. "Oh, they play harps and sing and sit under beautiful trees," was the reply.

"Well," said the little fellow, "I don't see how they can have trees if there ain't no dirt!"—Houston (Texas) Post.

Lithuanian Marriage Custom.

Lithuania, a province of Russia, has a strange custom, which is intended to protect the bride should her marriage prove unhappy. Previous to the wedding ceremony the mother, in the presence of witnesses, severely boxes the bride's ears. As time goes by, should the husband prove faithless or unkind, his wife can sue for a divorce on the plea that she was forced into the marriage by her mother against her will, and on that score the verdict of the judge will be in her favor.

Pursuit.

"And yet," he exclaimed, striving to seem cheerful, "I shall still pursue the bright visions of hope!"

Beryl did not love him, but she pitied him.

"Oh, chase yourself!" she pleaded, for she sincerely desired to save him further pain.—Detroit Journal.

What Caused the Fracture.

Hanson—Did you hear about Stewart. He is suffering from a broken paw.

Billbury—That's what football comes to.

Hanson—But it wasn't football. It was golf. A tangle with the dialect, you know.—Boston Transcript.

Is This Your Story?

"Every morning I have a bad taste in my mouth; my tongue is coated; my head aches and I often feel dizzy. I have no appetite and am unable to eat. I have a heavy feeling in my stomach. I am getting so weak that sometimes I tremble, and my nerves are all unstrung. I am afraid to go to bed at night. I am afraid in the morning as at night."

What is the trouble? Impure blood.

What is his remedy?
